The Floral Deck

50 Flower Arrangements for Every Occasion

Build a beautiful bouquet or a statement flower arrangement with this lavish deck of 52 cards featuring 50 gorgeous floral designs.

Dahlia

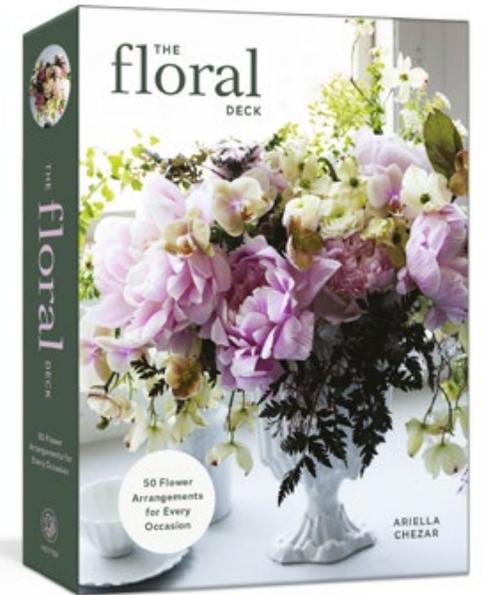

In autumn, shrubs whose blossoms we harvested in spring deliver a different kind of beauty: leaves ranging from red to purple to rusty orange. They find no better companions than a host of giant dahlias in sunset colors. Dahlias start blooming in late July and can be harvested through October if the frost doesn't bite. They come in a variety of sizes and are easy to grow.

Materials: compact, large Waterproof container No Frog Floral putty Newspaper Mason jar 5 stalks hydrangea branches 4 aster bean flowers 5 diagonal branches with fall foliage 5 maroon viburnum branches 10 fruited Russian olive branches 4 sweet autumn chrysanthemum vines 4 low in a puff vines 10 large salmon dahlias 8 giant peach dahlias 10 pink daisies

ALTERNATE FLOWERS: in summer, use peonies or roses instead of dahlias.

- 1 If your ceramic container is porous and cannot hold water, like the one used here, place a water-proof container inside. Anchor a jute bag in the container with floral putty. Fill three-quarters full with water. Add folded-up newspaper around the container to hold it steady, and cover the newspaper with moss.
- 2 Trim the hydrangea branches and cut an X in each cut end. Anchor them so they extend horizontally over the edge of the container. Trim the center from flowers and add next to the hydrangea, repeating the horizontal placement.
- 3 Trim the diagonal and viburnum branches and cut an X in each cut end. Place them as they arch out either side of the arrangement. Trim and add 4 olive branches, tucking some on the backs of the leaves above. All of these branches form a base layer for the flowers (see "The Basics" cards).
- 4 Trim the chrysanthemum and low in a puff vines and anchor them to the jute bag. Wind them through the branches and circle them below the complete on the green vines and "puff" angle from the arrangement.
- 5 Trim all the dahlias and remove most of the leaves. Some of the blossoms should sit low in the container, cut them as short as 3 to 4 inches. Anchor others to cradling the edge of the container. Fill the center with longer-stemmed dahlias.
- 6 Trim fruit from remaining branches of Russian olive and intersperse among the dahlias.

Washing My Mother's Body

A beautifully illustrated edition of Poet Laureate Joy Harjo's poem "Washing My Mother's Body," which offers a way through grief when the loss appears unbearable.

Through lyrical prose and evocative watercolor illustrations by award-winning Muscogee artist Dana Tiger, Washing My Mother's Body explores the complexity of a daughter's grief as she reflects on the joys and sorrows of her mother's life. She lays her mother to rest in the landscape of her memory, honoring the hands that raised her, the body that protected her, and the legs that carried her mother through adversity.

Moving, comforting, and deeply emotional, Washing My Mother's Body is a tender look at mother-daughter relationships, the complexity of grieving the loss of a parent, and the enduring love of those left behind.

JOY HARJO is an internationally renowned poet, performer, and writer of the Muscogee (Creek) Nation who has served three terms as the twenty-third Poet Laureate of the United States. Harjo is the author of multiple poetry collections, plays, children's books, and memoirs. DANA TIGER is an award-winning and internationally acclaimed artist. She is a member of the Muscogee (Creek) Nation and is of Seminole and Cherokee descent.

The story is all there, in her body, as I wash her to prepare her to be let down into earth, and return all stories to the earth.
My body memories rise up as I wash.
I recall carrying my two
children, rocking them,
and feeding them from my body.
How I knew myself as beloved
Earth, in that body.

An illustrated and authoritative exploration of how Black Americans have shaped baseball from its very beginnings by renowned author Gerald Early. GERALD EARLY is the Merle Kling Professor of Modern Letters in the African and African American Studies Department at Washington University. In 2013, President Obama appointed Early to a five-year term at the National Council on the Humanities. THE NATIONAL BASEBALL HALL OF FAME AND MUSEUM is an educational institution dedicated to fostering an appreciation of the history of baseball.

Cat-Hair Hats for Cats

Craft Fetching Headwear for Your Feline Friends

Wish you had a real-life cat in a hat? Finally, there's a headwear solution for fashion-forward felines—and a practical use for all that pesky cat hair.

UMATAN came up with the idea of making hats out of cat hair when she saw a pile of brushed fur from one of her cats that resembled a hat. Now, she designs the headgear and her husband, ROJIMAN, photographs the creations at home in Tokyo on their three feline models, Nya, Maru, and Mugi. The results are showcased on rojiman's popular Instagram.
