RETAILER RESOURCE GUIDE • VOLUME 5 • FALL 2025

Hello Retailers!

Welcome to the Fall 2025 edition of PRH Panels+ Retailer Resource Guide! As the name states, this is a guidebook for Retailers only—something you can keep behind the counter to reference easily when finding new recommendations for customers, browsing and ordering on PRHComics.com, putting together new shelves or displays, handselling products, and more!

This catalog covers key Fall 2025 titles from various publishers that we think your customers will love. You'll find a complete listing of all the titles in our monthly digital PRH Panels catalog, as usual. We've also highlighted those evergreen titles that continually sell well, so you can have easy reference when stocking up for the next big launch or media moment. Our popular retailer interviews are back as well, packed with a ton of useful info. We spoke to Joe Ferrara of Atlantis Fantasyworld, Dimitrios Fragiskatos of both Anyone Comics and Everyone Comics, and Dawn Studebaker of Summit Comics & Games! We also have a creator interview in this edition with Art Baltazar, the famous cartoonist behind the Dr. Seuss Graphic Novel: Cat Out of Water and the upcoming Thing One and Thing Two Have Homework to Do.

Since the last edition of this catalog, PRH has added many new publishers and imprints to our sales offerings. We have introductory pages to help get you acquainted with these publishers. Read on to learn more about BOOM! Studios, DSTLRY, and Ignition Press, as well as IDW's new horror-focused imprint, IDW Dark, and Random House Graphics new line of East Asian comics, Ink Pop! Additionally, we've highlighted several new and continuing product lines like DC's Absolute Universe, DC Compact Classics, the Marvel Premier Collection, the Pantheon Graphic Library, and Ten Speed Graphic's Comic Book Story/History of series! And don't miss this year's Trick-or-Read comics!

Browse this catalog and share it with your staff to find titles that might have flown under your radar! Our sales reps have curated backlist guides in each section—with lists of essentials for series like Something is Killing the Children, Stranger Things, Star Trek, X-Men, and more! We also have brought back our "Like This, Try That" guides for Kids & YA titles and East Asian Comics, with new titles featured. An easy way to recommend books to readers that don't know where to start.

In this edition, we've expanded our Prose section to include bestseller lists across some of the biggest categories in fiction. Flip to that section to find Sci-Fi, Fantasy, and Romance titles to grow or kick start your shop's stock of Prose titles. In addition, we've collected upcoming East Asian style novel releases, including beloved series translated in English for the first time. These novels slot in perfectly with an existing Manga or East Asian comics section.

The retailer resources section also has more great ways to expand your stock, save money, and discover new products. Our Webcomics 101 guide will help you discover five ways to start or grow your stock of web-to-print adaptations in your store. The series featured have established followings online, and the print adaptations contain exclusive materials that fans are eager to own. We have curated title lists in five different key categories: Action/Adventure, Fantasy, Horror/Supernatural, LGBTQ+, and Romance.

In addition, check out the new fills we have to offer this season for the PRH Direct Market counter display. This 2-tier permanent display is available to retailers for any $450 (net) order of non-comic products of your choice. Or take advantage of our curated fills! Introduce your customers to the best of manga, early readers titles, bestselling graphic novels, media tie-ins to major 2025-2026 releases, and spooky titles for Halloween, while also saving big!

As your customer community grows, we have plenty of collections for titles and products that will appeal to comics fans, pop culture-aficionados, gamers, early readers, parents, teachers, and more! There's something for everyone in Panels+!

Our Retailers are our partners, and we're always looking for new ways to support you. Retailers who have any questions are encouraged to reach out to their sales rep or email us at comicmarketUS@penguinrandomhouse.com.

As the newest imprint in the Random House Worlds family, BOOM! Studios is the publisher of world-class comic books and graphic novels. We curate our list for audiences under four distinct but complementary imprints: BOOM! Studios, Archaia, BOOM! Box, and KaBOOM!

Our eponymous imprint is designed to engage adult readers seeking cutting edge creative content from industry leading creators and licensors. Featuring BRZRKR by Keanu Reeves, Something is Killing the Children by James Tynion IV and Werther Dell'Edera, and the hit horror anthology Hello Darkness, the BOOM! Studios imprint stands out from the competition at the Direct Market comic shops.

ARCHAIA is our literary adaptation imprint, focusing on titles tailored for the bookstore, library, and school markets. Powerful adaptations, with rich and unique visual depictions of familiar worlds, resonate with the graphic novel audience. Here readers will find Kurt Vonnegut's Slaughterhouse Five, David Petersen's Mouse Guard, and Jim Henson's Labyrinth.

With BOOM! Box, we deliver dynamic, big-hearted stories aimed at young adults and underrepresented audiences. Primarily connecting with readers who seek strong character relationships, bright and colorful art, and queer-positive themes and representation. Lumberjanes, Giant Days, and Fence are perennial favorites from the BOOM! Box imprint.

And finally, we round out our audience reach with KaBOOM!, our middle grade imprint showcasing accessible licensed properties and exciting original content designed specifically for young and reluctant readers. R.L. Stine's Just Beyond, Garfield, and Hex Vets are popular series within KaBOOM!

At BOOM! Studios, we make comics for you. Whoever YOU are!

Written by RODNEY BARNES;
Illustrated by CHRIS SHEHAN;
Cover Design or Artwork by CHRIS SHEHAN

Those who remember the vampiric terror in Barrow of two decades past would rather not talk about it. Those who don't remember don't believe the stories. A dark memory is stirring in the heart of Romania and it has set its sights on Barrow, the death place of Vicente. After fleeing gang violence in Los Angeles, Jalen James needs a fresh start. But he's unlikely to find it as the sun falls... Writer Rodney Barnes (Killadelphia) and artist Chris Shehan (House of Slaughter) welcome you back to Barrow in the oversize first issue of this revival.

From Eisner Award-winning author Casey Gilly (Buffy the Last Vampire Slayer) comes a tale of buried truths, decaying bodies, and rotting gods. Ichabod Crane is a man of science, but when he receives a frantic letter urging him to return to Sleepy Hollow, Ichabod must reunite with his now estranged love, Katrina Van Tassel, to investigate a string of strange, unexplainable murders.

Dan Watters (Batman: Dark Patterns) and artist Morgan Beam (Swamp Thing: Twin Branches) present “Blank.” A terrified citizen regales a detective with a story about people suddenly frozen like statues. A once-bustling metropolis becomes quieter by the minute as people are replaced by featureless versions themselves. Where one would have found hopes, laughter, tears, and struggles, one can now only find BLANKS...here in The Twilight Zone. Each issue is a new tale in the vein of the iconic original television series that’s captivated audiences for over 60 years. And like the show, these stories will be revealed in terrifying black and white!

Please allow us to introduce ourselves...

Ignition Press is a brand-new comic book and graphic novel publisher devoted to creator-owned comics. Yeah, we know. Do we need another one of those? What makes us so special?

Well, to start, you may know us already. Ignition Press was founded by four veterans of comic book publishing and media with over 100 years of collective experience. Our nucleus is made up of names likely familiar to you – Filip Sablik, formerly of BOOM! Studios; Jamie S. Rich, formerly of DC Comics and Oni Press; and Jeremy Haun, co-creator of The Beauty and writer of Red Mother, The Realm, and many others. Our fourth founder, Eric Gitter, may be less recognizable, but you're certainly familiar with his work as the producer of films that include Scott Pilgrim vs. The World, Atomic Blonde, and Extraction - all based on comic books. Together the four of us form the core of Ignition – Publisher, Editor-in-Chief, Creative Director, and CEO, respectively.

And like you, we love comics. So much so, we are what could be considered “lifers” in this crazy industry. We’ve seen and done it all, and we’ve observed things that we thought could be better. Top of the list was the relationship between publisher, creator, and retailer. The essential partners in any comic book endeavor.

Starting in September 2025, we are going to be publishing new and original comic books by some of our favorite creators from around the world. We are also bringing The Beauty back to the racks just in time for our Ryan Murphy-helmed television adaptation to premiere on FX.

As part of our commitment to bringing you the best comics and provide the best tools for selling them, these are some of our core principles:

- LONG-TERM THINKING

Supported by useful resources and realistic timelines.

- CREATOR-DRIVEN ORIGINALS

Committed exclusively to the franchises of tomorrow.

- INTENTIONAL AT EVERY LEVEL

Achievable production schedules, consistent cover design, and high production values.

- COMMUNICATION

Transparent, sincere, timely, and consistent.

- PROVEN MEDIA PIPELINE

Creating crossover opportunities with television and movie productions to drive readers to stores.

- THOUGHTFUL PUBLISHING PLAN

Scaling up to be able to offer ample preview material while maintaining a consistent 5-week release schedule.

- CREATOR BRAND BUILDING

Real investment into growing the creators as brands independent of any individual project.

- COMMUNITY BUILDING

Leveraging digital marketing techniques and experiential marketing to expand the audience and using modern direct-to-consumer tools to convert new customers.

- END-TO-END SUPPORT

Marketing and sales support with point-of-sale focus to drive sell-through in your store.

You will see these values enacted as we bring our first titles to market. We will have seven titles launching before the end of 2025, with more already planned for 2026 and beyond. Every title you will see on the next page was chosen because the concept excited us, coming from creators whose work we admire.

We are Ignition Press. We are here to empower vibrant creativity, bringing stories to life with integrity and commitment, while making our entire industry a better place.

Young love always feels like life or death—and at this high school, it is in this exciting graphic novel!

In this Burton-esque macabre world, young lovers Vanessa De La Mora and Edgar St. Claire are at the top of the food chain at Manderlay Preparatory High School. They should be focusing on their upcoming crowning as homecoming queen and king, but lately the duo have grown weary and resentful of each other. While breaking up seems like the easy solution, they've both independently decided that all of their problems would be solved if the other was, well...dead.

Join up-and-coming writer/artist Sean Peacock in this exciting cat-and-cat game as two teens try to murder each other in increasingly elaborate fashion!

It's the summer of 2020, and downtown Philly is up in flames. "You're not out in the streets with everyone else?" Ronnie asks his ambivalent son, Ben, shambling in with arms full of used books: the works of Malcom X, Robert F. Williams, Assata and Sanyika Shakur, among others. "Black liberation is your fight, too." So begins Black Arms to Hold You Up, a boisterous, darkly funny, and sobering march through Black militant history by political cartoonist Ben Passmore. From Robert Charles's shootout with the police in 1900, to the Black Power movement in the 1960s, to the Los Angeles and George Floyd uprisings of the 1990s and 2020, readers will tumble through more than a century of armed resistance against the racist state alongside Ben—and meet firsthand the mothers and fathers of the movement, whose stories were as tragic as they were heroic.

What, after so many decades lost to state violence, is there left to fight for? Deeply researched, vibrantly drawn, and bracingly introspective, Black Arms to Hold You Up dares to find the answer.

Visually and emotionally rich, MetaMaus is as groundbreaking as the masterpiece whose creation it reveals. Featured in the documentary Art Spiegelman: Disaster Is My Muse.

In the pages of MetaMaus, Art Spiegelman re-enters the Pulitzer Prize-winning Maus, the modern classic that has altered how we see literature, comics, and the Holocaust ever since it was first published decades ago.

He probes the questions that Maus most often evokes—Why the Holocaust? Why mice? Why comics?—and gives us a new and essential work about the creative process.

Compelling and intimate, MetaMaus is poised to become a classic in its own right.

Spanning several generations, the book traces Musk's journey from his family roots in South Africa and his grandfather's role in the Technocracy Movement to his current position at the apex of tech power and far-right politics. From Musk's early education and influences, the creation of PayPal, and the meteoric rise of Tesla and SpaceX thanks to millions in government handouts, to his ascension as a "dark MAGA" influencer and kingmaker, Elon Musk: American Oligarch captures the tension, tumult, and chaos in which oligarchs thrive today.

Cunningham's award-winning clarity and style sparkle as he presents freewheeling financial and engineering concepts used by startups and tech companies. This fast-paced biography reveals the complex interactions of visionary ideas, relentless drive, and unyielding ambition. Elon Musk: American Oligarch offers a fresh, unvarnished look at Musk's rise, aggressive leadership style, and appetite for risk-taking that have propelled him into a unique position as an unelected private business owner with unprecedented access to political power.

Retailer Interview

Dimitrios Fragiskatos // Anyone Comics & Everyone Comics

In what ways have you engaged with your local community in your store through events or programs?

We host weekly art classes for kids, monthly Drink N Draw for adults, and book clubs. We host board games meetups, cards, or RPGs. We also have signings with authors that include Q&As. The goals of our events are to give people ownership of their hobbies. We feel that if people get comfortable producing art or writing, sharing their interests it would encourage them to try material that may be unconventional for them.

What kinds of events or programs have proven the most successful and what will you avoid doing again in the future?

It's hard to quantify what is successful if you look beyond sales. Our most successful event is the Indie Book Fair on Free Comic Book Day. We make the most amount of money on that day, and we invite local artists to have tables of their work giving customers a comic convention-like experience. Our least successful in terms of sales is our Book clubs. The people who come in can be fans of the book and may already own it, or may sign up for it and not show up. And yet, the book club is an additive experience for the customers we already have. While they discuss the book, other books may come up that's in the store. They also associate our stores with the comradery they develop. The kids art class repeatedly had no shows and yet now we typically have a full house. In our experience there's no idea that isn't worth revisiting. There may be some events that happen at the wrong time or need to be fine-tuned to the current conditions. There is very little we wouldn't revisit again or avoid.

Retailer Interview

Why is community engagement important to a comics retailer?

I very much would like to not have to organize events. I would very much like to have the job of opening a store, selling books, chatting with customers and then closing the store. There are a lot of misconceptions of what a comic shop is like, and newer stores inherited that perception. So, stores have to engage with their community to pitch to people that the hobby of reading or collecting comics is worth pursuing. You can do so by hosting events or participating in others. The name Anyone Comics is meant to be an engagement. Passersby who relate to the word "anyone" challenge our staff with finding books for them. Finding ways to engage people is what will keep a store open and is literally the only advantage a physical store has over its online competitors.

Is there a specific event or program you've done that you are particularly proud of for what it brought to your community and store?

I am proud of our Brooklyn Comic Book Pride Fair. The event was started by an associate of the store, indie comic artist John Jennison. After he passed, people insisted on continuing this book fair that highlights queer creators. As a cis het male, I felt out of my element, but I listened to what people wanted and what worked. In the end, the fair was easier than I thought; the problems that came up were solved or non-issues, because everyone involved, tablers, panelists and attendees, wanted it to work and that motivation was enough to make this a successful event!

How have your regular customers responded to your community engagement? Have you brought in new customers through these programs?

The events certainly bring in new customers. People are always looking for a place to belong, and so when they visit our store due to a fair or a signing, when they see people who are aligned with their viewpoint, who share their interests, they come back, sometimes even if there is a more convenient way for them to collect or read.

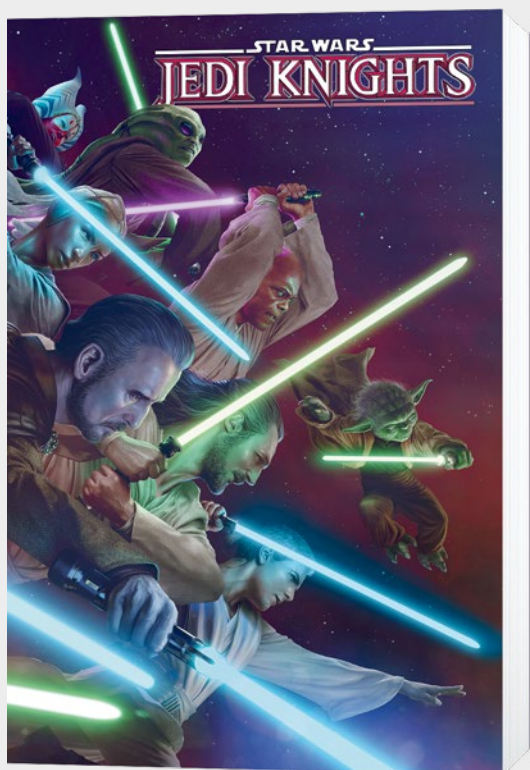

What are some of the practical challenges you face in working with your local community?

Getting the word out is probably the biggest challenge. Social media is generally ineffective. We have a newsletter, and then in-store marketing helps, but you always miss people who would like to be part of it. Nothing else to do but maintain an organization and structure and hopefully they'll catch on to the next one. There can also be disruptors, but again, the people who show up generally want to see you succeed, and will understand or assist with disruptions.

What advice do you have for retailers who want to engage more with their local community?

Listen and engage, follow what's going on in your neighborhood and see if your store can join in. Pay attention to what people are asking for and see if you can provide it whether it's a space for an event, or books that deal with subject matter not commonly seen.

Calamity Jane and the stories surrounding her are famous, but this graphic novel for young readers 8 and up is here to tell the story of Martha Jane Canary—the real-life survivor, orphan, and storyteller behind the legend.

In 1901, the Pan-American Exposition World's Fair was held in Buffalo, New York. Amongst spectacles like advancements in electricity and new inventions like the X-ray machine is a woman with a story—but not the one you've heard. Calamity Jane's life is shrouded in exaggerations and lies told to sell a more marketable version of reality, but cartoonist Noah Van Sciver is here to tell the truth: Martha Jane Cannary struggled throughout her life, from her childhood as a destitute orphan to her bitter adulthood as she watched the West she loved disappear before her eyes.

Who changes the leaves? Summons the autumn winds? Wakes ghosts and spirits to haunt houses and chill the air? Why, Spooks, of course! They hatch from the smallest gourds in your local pumpkin patch at the start of every fall, then tend to your town to ensure everything is just right for Halloween.

In this story, young Holly Hollowell loves Halloween more than anything, but her dentist parents are totally against any event that promotes tooth-rotting sweets. While other kids trick-or-treat, Holly watches sadly from her window...until the Spooks arrive to turn things around! With their magical help, Holly can finally show her parents the true spirit of Halloween: not the candy, but the joy of expressing yourself, unleashing your imagination, and letting your spooky side soar!

Presented in rhyming verse that recalls Dr. Seuss and "Twas the Night Before Christmas," along with nostalgic illustrations in black, white, and orange, Spooks is an instantly timeless classic that places Halloween right alongside other beloved holidays. It's a clever trick and a lovable treat that the whole family will treasure.

Unfairies: A Graphic Novel

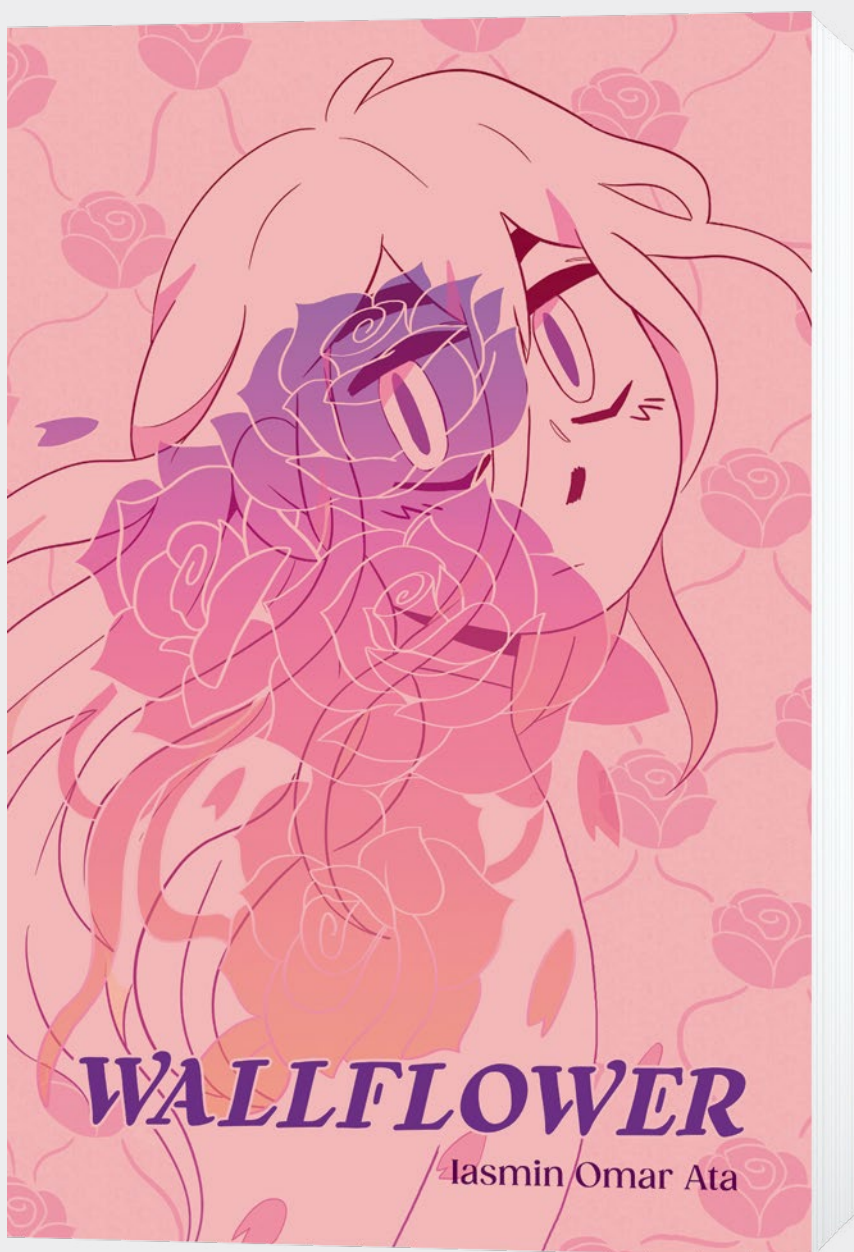

Written by HUW AARON;

Everyone knows that fairies are gentle, beautiful, and kind creatures who live in flowers and dress in pastels, right? WRONG! Fairies are horrible, disgusting backstabbers constantly at war with each other for power and control. And then there's Pip, a cheeky, impulsive tree fairy who could give two hoots about power and is really just looking for a party. But after being tasked with delivering an important message to the higher ups at the top of the tree, she's thrown into a breakneck adventure involving a dubious ancient prophecy, epic acorn-based warfare, and sinister plots that could alter the balance of power in The Garden for good.

Worst of all, if she's not careful, she might just emerge a hero. Too bad Pip is never careful...

A stunning graphic novel about a girl who must uncover the truth behind her strange magic. For as long as Marlena can remember, she has seen flowers growing on everyone she meets: personalized poppies and daisies and roses of every color that give away what their owners truly feel. Invisible to the rest of the world, the flowers have always felt too overwhelming, too much for Marlena to take in when they don't always match what their owner shows. She's long since given up convincing anyone else that they're there.

Until she meets Ashe, a charming transfer student who can somehow see these mysterious flowers, too. Unfortunately for Marlena, Ashe wants nothing to do with her. But as their thorny connection blooms, so do hidden secrets buried years ago. In this stunning graphic novel where dreams are woven into reality and not everything is as it seems, Marlena and Ashe must unfold the truth together, no matter where it may lead.

Creator Interview

Art Baltazar // Thing One and Thing Two Have Homework to Do

Dr. Seuss is one of the most recognizable and impactful children's licenses in all of publishing. What does it mean to you to be adding to that legacy?

My Gosh! Dr. Seuss and the Cat in the Hat are larger than life! They are American Culture and part of every kid's childhood! I've been drawing since I'm a kid and I never thought that one day I would get the opportunity to create Dr. Seuss books. I am honored to take on this great responsibility to bring a fresh take on the Cat to kids everywhere! This is huge! The Cat is up there with icons like, Mickey, Bugs, Superman, Coca Cola, and McDonalds. No pressure. No worries. So far, I think the readers are enjoying my cartooning.

This is your second Dr. Seuss Graphic Novel. How did working on this one compare to your experience creating your previous Cat Out of Water?

Wow. While working the first book, I really got to know the Cat. I feel out of all the Dr. Seuss characters, I identify with the Cat the most. The jokes and gags and dialogue started to flow in a natural rhythm the way I like to write. Working on the second book was a bit easier for me. It's always hardest to write the first one. Writing the second was more fun too. I knew the characters better...or maybe they knew me better. Ha. I think the second book is funnier and sillier. I still have an abundance of jokes that I couldn't fit in. It's true.

You've done incredible and award-winning work in original comics and licensed properties—both self-publishing and with many of the biggest publishers. What have you learned from your diversity of experience that you think readers might not know?

I approach every project the same. I have a sketchbook where I jot down ideas and doodle characters. To me, writing licensed characters or the ones I create feels the same. I feel like every book I work on is in the same universe. When I get drawings from kids, they often have many of the characters from many of the different publishers together all on one page. That's kinda cool. I make comics the way I make them. I can't really draw any other way except my cartoony style. It's so natural for me. I learned that whenever I get hired by anyone, they want the Famous Cartoonist spin I can bring to their worlds!

Is there anything you've read, watched, or listened to recently that has inspired you?

I really like to watch artists draw on live streams. That seems to be the thing I watch and listen to while I am making comics. I love baseball too. Baseball season is when I always have something to listen to while drawing. Also, music. Music and coffee put me in the zone to do awesome things. I like to write outside on my deck with the breeze and natural sounds of the outdoors. I could go on forever. There are lots of things that inspire the creative vibe!

What do you look for when you walk into a comic shop?

I love to browse when I walk into a comic shop. Shopping rocks. I like when things are bright and organized. A good friendly work staff is bonus. I like when I find something unique, like an action figure or store merch. But most of all, the COMICS! And hopefully The Cat in the Hat in their kids' section! AW YEAH!!!!

A high school student whose promising basketball career is in jeopardy discovers the triumphs and hardships of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar's life as a social justice advocate in this graphic novel.

Monk Travers is the star basketball player on his high school team. Confident about his future as an NBA player, he doesn't see the point in caring much about school, let alone his community. After getting caught graffitiing his team's rival school, Monk comes to the awful realization that his actions have put his place on the team—and his future—in jeopardy. Fearing the worst, he's taken by surprise when his coach offers him an unorthodox way to atone: completing a report on the life of Kareem Abdul-Jabbar. Monk is ecstatic. He knows all Kareem's records and stats. He smugly announces that the project will be a snap, but his excitement is short-lived when coach tells him that the project is not about Kareem's basketball career—it's about his life as an advocate for change.

As Monk grudgingly begins his research, he discovers a history of struggles, conflicts, frustrations, and violence that he'd never been aware of, awakening a passion for social justice that rivals Kareem's own.

East Asian Comics Glossary

Manhwa: Korean comics, read left-to-right. In Korea, digital comics dominate sales, so many manhwa are formatted for digital reading (vertical scrolling) and adapted for print.

Manhua: Chinese comics, reading format varies left-to-right or right-to-left. Due to strict censorship laws from the Cultural Revolution, it has been rare for manhua to be legally published outside of China until very recently.

Donghua refers to animated shows made in China, Taiwan, & Hong Kong.

Webtoons: Originating in South Korea, webtoons are digital comics that are formatted for vertical scrolling on smartphones. The term has been popularized online and now refers to digital comics from various creators/countries and is not limited to South Korean manhwa.

Web Comics: Refers to digital comics that are formatted in page-turn style (typically Western style L-to-R), rather than vertical scrolling.

Light Novels (aka LNs) are a type of Japanese novel that typically have a shorter page count (similar to novellas). In Japan, LNs are commonly marketed toward teens and young adults, but in the US and other English language countries, readership is crossover teen/adult. Like standard novels, light novels span across a variety of genres.

Danmei is a fiction genre originating from China that centers romanticized relationships of love and attraction between men. Danmei novels are typically first serialized on webnovel sites.

Webnovels are novels serialized by chapter online. Many novels, comics, live action dramas, and animated shows produced in China are based off popular webnovels.

Kids: Titles that are marketed for Kids and are suitable for All Ages (also called “Kodomo” or “Kodomomuke”).

Shojo: Primarily marketed to teen girls. Genres often include coming of age, romance, magical girls, and feature young girl protagonists.

Shonen: Primarily marketed to teen boys. Genres often include coming of age, action and adventure, and features a teen boy protagonist or hero.

Josei: Primarily marketed to older teen/young women. Series often feature young adult women and tend to show more realistic interpersonal relationships (as opposed to shojo's often idealized ones) and can cover more mature or darker subjects.

Seinen: Primarily marketed to older teen/young men. Series often feature more mature themes, including sex and/or violence, and young adult or adult male protagonists. In some series, images may be more graphic (gore, partial nudity).

Rated Mature (18+): Can include titles that have mature, edgy, and/or “ecchi,” erotic content. This category can be compared to what HBO/Cinemax is to network TV. Ecchi is generally not perceived as pornography by fans, and the level of explicitness depends on the series. Some series with no erotic content are rated mature due to depictions of sexual assault, violence, gore, or other mature themes.

Autobio/Essay: Nonfiction manga is trending, particularly autobio/memoir, also referred to as essay manga, which draws on the author's own life experiences. Common topics include gender and sexuality, mental health, substance abuse, family life and pets, food, and travel.

Award Winners: There are many manga-specific awards recognized in Japan (Japan Cartoonists Association Award, Tezuka Osamu Cultural Award, etc.) and some International awards (International Manga Award). Graphic novel industry awards outside of Japan often include translated manga (The Eisner Awards, Harvey Awards).

Classics: Classic manga generally refers to manga that has significantly affected culture or impacted a certain genre. It can also refer to manga published in the late 60s-70s, 80s-90s, and late 90s-early 2000s, as each manga generation has a specific art style associated with it and was published at a time when English translated manga was less accessible.

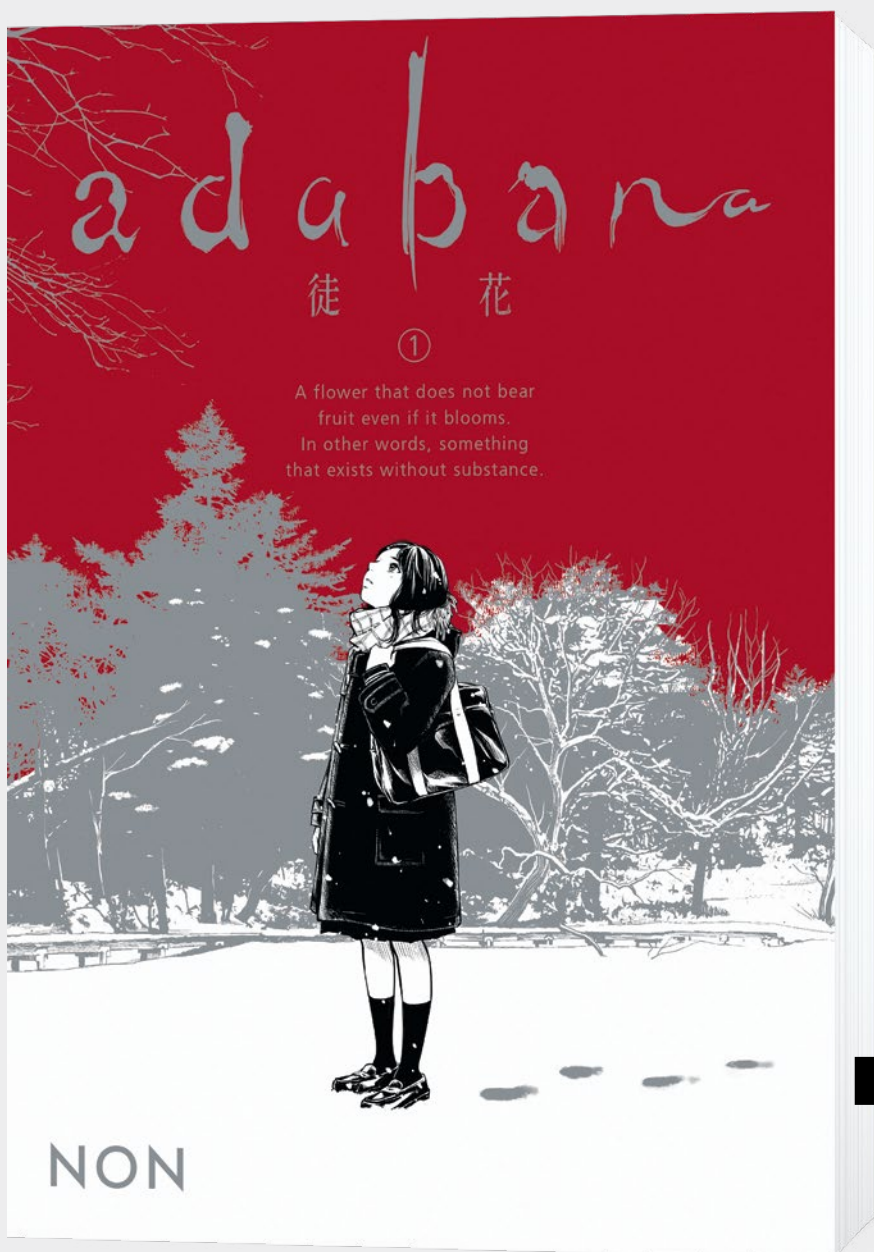

Isekai: Isekai is often referred to as “other world.” The general premise is that a character is transported to another world, usually a fantasy or sci-fi realm, and adventures or slice-of-life stories follow. Modern Isekai manga often has an RPG vibe that appeals to tabletop and video-gamers. Reverse-Isekai is when a character from another world appears in our ordinary world.

LGBTQ+: The LGBTQ+ manga genre features explicit or implied LGBTQ+ protagonists, and often discusses self-identity and real-life issues faced by members of the LGBTQ+ community. An increasing number of “own voices,” publicly out LGBTQ+ manga creators are being published today.

Romance for Men: Many romance manga series appeal to all genders, and there are series that skew towards a male audience of readers. A popular subgenre is romantic comedies with cute, shy, or teasing girl characters.

Yaoi/BL: Yaoi, or Boys Love (BL), refers to manga that focuses on romantic relationships between men. The main creators and audience of this genre are women.

Yuri/GL: Yuri, or Girls Love (GL), refers to manga that focuses on romantic relationships between women.

This is perfect for booksellers, parents, educators, and librarians looking for kid-friendly and kid-appropriate content for their young readers. These guidelines will make Ink Pop titles easier to shelve, and also easier to recommend to your customers.

WHY SHOULD YOU DEDICATE SHELF SPACE TO THE FORMAT?

We are in a time of unprecedented growth in the manga market.

MANGA IS POP CULTURE

Anime made its mainstream debut on US television nearly twenty years ago in morning and afternoon blocks on standard and cable TV, raising a new generation of fans. These millennials and older Gen Z viewers have now grown into their spending power. Anime and manga are no longer niche markets—they have a foothold in pop culture in all age groups. In fact, adult manga makes up a little under half of the total comics and graphic novel market. Kid- and tween-friendly manga exists but is underrepresented in the United States.

Mushishi Collector's Edition 1

Written by YUKI URUSHIBARA

Upon its release in the 2000s, Mushishi earned global acclaim for its poetic episodic storytelling and delicate, beautiful artwork, winning the Japan Media Arts Prize, selection as a Best Manga by the Japan Agency for Cultural Affairs, and recommendation as a top read for teens by the American Library Association. The series inspired two TV anime adaptations in 2005 and 2014 and a live-action film directed by the legendary Katsuhiro Otomo, creator of AKIRA. Unfortunately, after being out of print for 15 years, English copies of Mushishi became as elusive as the strange creatures that populate its pages—until now.

Kodansha's new edition of Mushishi features an all-new translation and lettering, and beautiful color pages and cover illustrations never seen in the U.S. before.

Adored by his audience as Mahiru, he wishes he were confident enough to be seen and loved as his real self. Even his manager, Ogino, seems to see him more as Mahiru than Mayo sometimes... and when Ogino takes their relationship to a new level, Mayo worries that it's only because Ogino values "Mahiru" and wants him to continue on as his character. Over the course of their sexual relationship, Mayo doubts Ogino's sincerity, but Ogino finally admits that he's always admired Mayo for who he really is.

Written by GUO SI TE

A unique story about two very different girls falling in love. As the top freshman at Brilliant Minds High, Sadie Cang is surrounded by students who admire her brilliance, yet she lacks a single real friend. Fellow student Lex Qi has long since accepted her own hopeless, "dead last" title, along with everyone's aversion to her seemingly contagious tendency to fail. Although they were both prepared to go through high school in these lonely roles, a silly rumor forced them together. Will an imperfect pairing form the perfect bond they never knew they wanted?

Batman's eternal vigilance continues as threats from rival gangs and masked criminals escalate by the day. Meanwhile, on the streets, protests grow in opposition to the city's lavish excesses. No one is experiencing the struggle between Gotham's optimism and doubt more than Norman Pinkus.

But Norman harbors a secret. He is the smartest man in Gotham City, using his skills to solve crimes anonymously for years via the police tip line. Dejected and unappreciated, Norman devises a scheme: With the help of dangerous new friends, he exploits the simmering tensions of the long hot summer to draw the Caped Crusader into a volatile game of riddles to crown Gotham's true savior. As they clash, Norman—now known as The Riddler—and Batman will uncover hidden secrets about Gotham's past that will have dire consequences for the city's future.

The year is 1990: The X-Men all perished more than a decade ago, and Kitty Pryde is no hero. After growing up under the tutelage of the White Queen, Kitty is an apex predator of a superior species, yet she lives alone in a tiny, rundown apartment, preferring isolation to a knife in the back. But sometimes Kitty isn't so sure of that. Sometimes it feels like she phases right out of her own life. A familiar stranger from her imagined life, Betsy Braddock, provides a rambling confirmation that something is wrong with their world.

The girls follow a tenuous psychic trail back to Xavier's School for Gifted Youngsters in its glory days and embed themselves with the X-Men. There they discover that the inflection point that will unravel their future revolves around a certain omega-level mutant, destined to become the Phoenix.

Retailer Interview

Dawn Studebaker // Summit Comics & Games

What goes into curating an inviting and successful prose section in your store?

Curating an inviting and successful prose section is about more than just stocking books, it's about crafting a space that sparks discovery and celebrates storytelling. First, we consider who our customers are and what they're looking for. Whether it's fantasy fans crossing over from graphic novels, families looking for bedtime reads, or casual browsers wanting something fresh and thought-provoking, we build our selection around those needs and combine that effort with the vibe of our clientele. We look for a curated mix: small press gems, buzzy titles, literary hits, and standout middle-grade and YA books, especially ones that resonate with our community or tie into our events, fandoms, or values. We also make space for staff favorites, which gives the section a personal, authentic feel. Visual merchandising plays a huge role. Books are often displayed face-out, on end caps and in our New & Noteworthy sections. Handwritten recommendation cards, cozy signage, and seasonal displays help create a browsable, welcoming experience.

Was there already a demand for prose books from your customers, or did you take steps to bring those new readers in?

Our shopping mall recently lost its big box bookstore, and we chose to go a little deeper on what we already stocked with the void in our area. Our other mall location competes directly with the big box bookstore and still shines through.

What are some challenges you face in selling prose books, and how do you meet those challenges?

One major challenge is visibility. In a space where graphic novels, toys, and eye-catching game boxes dominate, traditional prose books can easily fade into the background. To counter that, we're intentional about how and where we do our merchandising and using vibrant displays, curated tables, and cross-promotions (like "If you liked this comic, try this novel!") to spotlight books and make them part of the visual conversation. Or adding toys and games with the same vibe to our end cap to bring attention to the prose.

What series or subgenres of prose books have your customers responded to the most?

The major subgenres that sell well for us are fantasy. Any prose in our nerd culture will resonate. Fantasy, horror such as vampires, werewolves, and the like. Futuristic also does well.

How do you encourage customers who primarily shop at your store for comics to try out a prose title?

Again, that goes back to the visual merchandising and staff recommendations. Our carefully curated selection is then lifted up with merchandising and staff promotion.

Retailer Interview

Dawn Studebaker // Summit Comics & Games

Any advice for retailers looking to start/expand their prose section in their store?

Display matters. Stack them face-out, do themed groupings ("Witchy Reads," "Staff Favorites," "If You Like Stranger Things..."), and don't skip on signage. People judge books by their covers—and your section by how welcoming it feels. And talk about them. Books won't sell if your staff is afraid to recommend them. But here's the secret—they don't have to read everything. Tools like Penguin Random House's Bookseller Services, Google or even book TikTok can give quick summaries, staff reviews, and "read-alike" suggestions that make recommending easy and fun. Just teach your team how to use those tools and suddenly, they're confident handselling. Also, don't be afraid to get creative, bundle novels with fandom merch, run a themed book club, or pair prose with comics or games for cool crossover moments. You're not just stocking books, you're building a cool additional nook that makes someone stop in the middle of the store and go, "Whoa, I didn't expect to find this here."

A graphic novel history of the cocktail—from prehistoric wassail to our current boozy renaissance—featuring 20 recipes by drinks historian, Daily Beast columnist, and James Beard award-winning author David Wondrich.

In The Comic Book History of the Cocktail, Wondrich teams up with comics artist Dean Kotz to trace the evolution of the cocktail. Beginning with the ancient days of wassail and hypocras (mixed drinks based on wine and beer), they narrate a tumultuous and vibrant history that stretches through the Age of Exploration, the boozier parts of the Enlightenment and America's hurly-burly nineteenth century, to the Disco years, the Cosmo years, and the modern Cocktail Revolution.

Kotz's intricate, masterful drawings illustrate stories that have never been properly told and introduce key characters who haven't yet received their due. Nearly thirty recipes round out this spirited account, featuring accurate versions of old classics and a generous selection of secret weapons from the mixologist's vest pocket. So, settle in with your libation of choice and prepare to meet the good, the bad, and the boozy in this lively and jam-packed tale.

Managing Your Cart on PRH Self-Service

Items added to your cart through your Pull List or browsing PRH Self-Service will be organized into a general cart for Penguin Random House titles and reorders, and FOC carts for items with a FOC date. You can click on the cart icon to access your cart from any screen.

FOC carts are grouped by location and deadline. If you're ordering for multiple locations, you can switch between them using the drop-down menu. You'll also see notifications about upcoming or past deadlines, so you can manage your carts and make sure you don't miss anything.

It's important to confirm your cart before the deadline, so your items are converted into an order. To do this, select the "Confirm Quantities" button from the Cart Summary box. You can still make changes to your cart until the deadline, but after that, your confirmed items will be locked in and can't be edited.

If you make changes to a confirmed cart, it is important that you don't forget to click the 'Confirm Updates' button to save your changes. If you don't confirm your updates before the deadline, you might not get the items you want.

Important things to remember:

- Make sure to confirm your cart before the deadline, so your items are converted into an order.
- After 11:59 EST on the FOC Date, your confirmed carts will be automatically converted into orders and begin processing.
- If you don't confirm your cart, it will be deleted, and you won't receive the items.
- You can still order items after the deadline, but you'll need to add them to your general cart and go through checkout.
- Ratio variants cannot be ordered after the deadline.
- Payment method can be updated at any time prior to the FOC deadline. Your credit card will not be charged until product is shipped.

Checking Out

Within check-out, you'll see your shipping address, order details, method of payment, order review, and checkout summary. Click "Place Order" to submit the order and receive a confirmation email.

Payment method can be updated at any time prior to the FOC deadline. Your credit card will not be charged until product is shipped. To make a change, select the confirmed FOC cart you would like to update from the My Carts page and click on View Payment & Order Details. Unconfirmed orders will need to be confirmed prior to entering payment method.

Managing and Tracking Your Orders

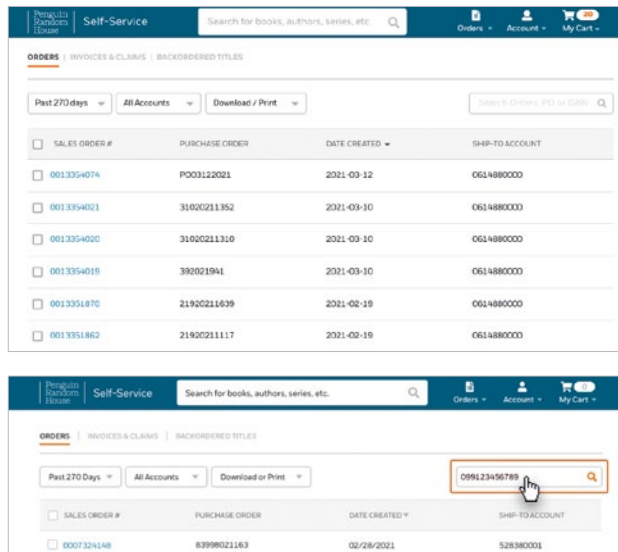

After your order has been placed, click on the Orders section to view all the information you'll need, including the sales order number, purchase order, date created, and ship-to account.

By default, all orders placed in the past 270 days will appear here, but you can also choose to view the past 30 or 60 days. If you need information on orders or invoices older than 270 days, just contact Customer Service and they'll be happy to help.

If you want more details about a specific order, click on the Sales Order number to view the Order Detail. Here, you'll find the order status, tracking information (if available), and the warehouse your items will ship from (or have already shipped from).

To find tracking information for an order, you want to go to the Orders tab. From here, enter the PO or Order Number from the invoice into the search bar, then, click on the order to view the tracking links. Keep in mind that there may be multiple shipments in an order, so you may need to know the items you're looking for to track them.

You can also search for tracking information using the UPC of the title you want to track. Just follow the same steps as above, but search by UPC. All orders containing that UPC will appear in the search results. If the title is on multiple orders, all orders will be listed.

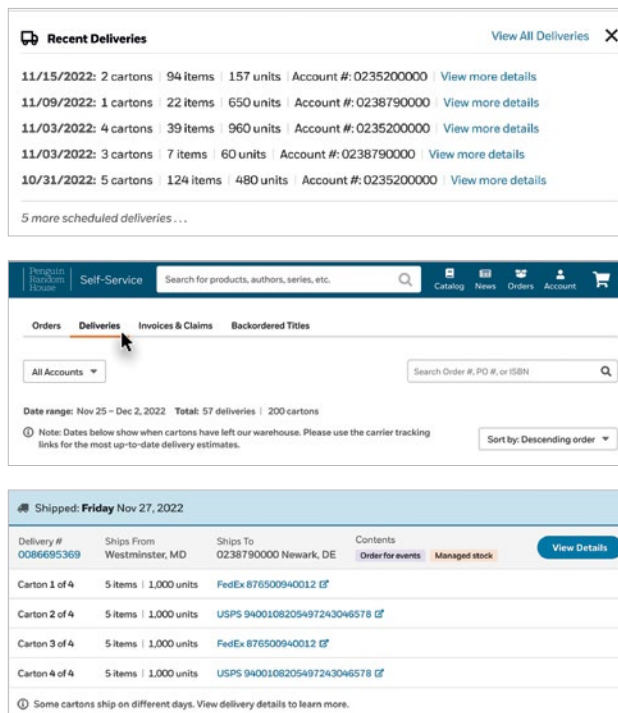

Delivery Details

On the home page, you'll see a list of your most recent deliveries, up to five, from the past 14 days.

If you want to see more information, just click on the "View All Deliveries" link. This will take you to the Deliveries page. Here, you can see the individual titles and quantities for each carton. You can also use the search bar to find a specific title by searching by title, ISBN, or UPC.

You'll also see links to the sales order and invoice numbers on this page. Keep in mind that if you have initials shipping before the month of on-sale, the invoice won't be available until the month of on-sale. But you'll still be able to see the sales order(s).

The Deliveries tab can also be accessed from the Orders dropdown. This page gives you an overview of your deliveries from the past 14 days. You can filter the information by location, and the date range at the top of the page will show you the actual delivery dates. You'll also see the total number of deliveries and cartons for this period.

Browse & Order

Each delivery is listed by its ship date, and you can use the sort button to change the order. You'll see the delivery number, where it's shipping from and to, and the contents tags. These tags tell you what's in each carton, like Initials, Reorders, Managed stock, or Order for events.

If a delivery has multiple cartons, they'll be listed individually, and you can use the carrier link to track each one. For the most up-to-date information, it's best to use the carrier tracking link. The dates on this page show when the cartons left our warehouse.

You can search for specific deliveries using the search bar at the top of the screen. Search by delivery number, ISBN, PO number, and more. If you search by ISBN, PO, or order number, you'll see results from the past 14 days. If you search by delivery number, you'll see results from the past 18 months.
